

Cooperatives and Viksit Bharat 2047

21–22 December 2026 • CESS, Hyderabad

Full papers by 28 November 2026

About the Seminar

Cooperatives have a vital role to play in realising Viksit Bharat 2047 by promoting inclusive, participatory and sustainable development. Through collective ownership and shared decision-making, they strengthen farmers, artisans, workers and small entrepreneurs, particularly in rural and underserved areas, improving access to finance, technology, markets and inputs while creating employment. Combining collective strength with modern technology, professional management and market-oriented approaches, the cooperative movement can help build a prosperous, resilient and Atmanirbhar Bharat.

The seminar brings together farmers, cooperators, academicians, policymakers, researchers, practitioners and students, with special emphasis on cooperative models that help small and marginal farmers gain bargaining power, lower input costs and reach wider markets. It will identify gaps in cooperative frameworks and agricultural policies and generate evidence-based recommendations for central and state governments.

Objectives

- Promote cooperative-based development through collective action and community ownership.
- Facilitate knowledge exchange on best practices and modern farming technologies.
- Strengthen small and marginal farmers through aggregation, value addition and marketing.
- Improve access to inputs and finance, from quality seeds to affordable credit.
- Explore rural industrialisation through agro-processing and rural value chains.
- Identify gaps in cooperative frameworks and ways to improve implementation.
- Explore new sectors for cooperativisation and state-level institutions.
- Make policy recommendations on organic agriculture, subsidies and market development.

About CESS, Hyderabad

Established in 1980, the Centre for Economic and Social Studies is a premier national institute conducting multidisciplinary research to provide policy inputs to the Government of Telangana and the Government of India. The ICSSR accorded it the status of an institution of national importance in 1986; it receives matching support from the ICSSR and the Government of Telangana. CESS serves as a think tank to the Government of Telangana and beyond, offers consultancy to public institutions and runs a PhD programme. CESS has been fortunate to have eminent social scientists as its Chairman, Directors and Special invitees apart from experienced government and ICSSR nominees, co-opted members on the board of governors of CESS who helped developing the centre to the present level through their valuable guidance. These include Sri B. P. R. Vithal, Sri S. R. Rama Murthy, Prof. A. M. Khuro, Prof. G. Ram Reddy, Prof. C. H. Hanumantha Rao, Prof. K. L. Krishna, Prof. R. Radhakrishna. Prof. Waheduddin Khan, Prof. N. Krishnaji, Prof. P. Venkataramaiah, Prof. S. Mahendra Dev, Prof. Manoj Panda, Prof. S. Galab who served as Directors of CESS/ Sri T. L. Shankar, Dr. Y. Venugopal Reddy, Sri K. R. Venugopal, Sri B. N. Yugandhar, Sri K. M. Ahmed, Sri C. S. Rao, Dr. S. R. Hashim, Prof. T. C. A. Anant, Prof. Mungekar, Prof. Sukhdev Thorat etc. who served as ICSSR nominees/board members. Prof. D. M. Nachane is the current Chairman of CESS.

THRUST AREAS Rural Development, Poverty & Employment • Agriculture & Food Security • Natural Resources & Environment • Public Finance • Demography • Health • Service Sector • Urbanisation & Migration • Marginalisation, Exclusion & Inequalities

Sub-themes

Original, unpublished papers are invited on

- Cooperatives, Inclusivity and Social Justice
- Cooperatives and Rural Transformation
- Cooperatives and Inclusive Growth
- Cooperatives: Reflections from the Field
- Cooperatives, Organic Farming and Dryland Farming
- Cooperatives and Agro-Processing
- Tribal and Scheduled Caste Communities and Cooperatives
- Any other theme relevant to cooperatives in India

Important Dates

28 November 2026

Full paper with abstract

30 November 2026

Acceptance of paper

1 December 2026

Registration opens

10 December 2026

Registration deadline

21–22 December 2026

The Seminar at CESS, Hyderabad

Paper Guidelines

Full papers of 4,000–7,000 words, including the abstract.

References in APA style (7th edition).

Co-authored papers are welcome.

Selected papers will be published after peer review.

Registration Fee

Faculty / Professionals ₹1,000

Research Scholars / Students ₹500

Please register only after your full paper is accepted. Selected presenters will receive details of the registration process.

Non-Presenting Attendees ₹3,000

(Includes boarding and lodging; travel self-arranged)

Travel & Accommodation

Outstation participants will be reimbursed 3rd AC train or bus fare by the shortest route, as per CESS/ICSSR rules.

Simple boarding and lodging will be provided free from the evening of 20 December to the morning of 23 December.

Support covers one presenter per accepted paper; co-authors must arrange their own travel and stay.

Expected Outcomes

- Better understanding of cooperative development
- Empowerment of small and marginal farmers
- Sustainable and organic agriculture promoted
- Scholar–policymaker–practitioner dialogue
- Collaborative research and networking
- Policy gaps and new sectors identified
- Evidence-based policy recommendations
- Edited volume or journal with ISBN/ISSN

CHIEF PATRON

Prof. E. Revathi

Director, CESS

SEMINAR CONVENOR

Prof. B. Suresh Reddy

Professor, CESS

ORGANISING COMMITTEE

Dr. Jeena T. Sreenivasan

Professor, CESS

Prof. P. Eshwaraiah

Retd. Professor, HCU

Prof. M. Gopinath Reddy

Retd. Professor, CESS

Dr. Chandrashekar

Assoc. Professor, CESS

Dr. Aparna Penumarth

Asst. Professor, CESS

Sri Mohan Rao

Administrative Officer

Dr. Y. Sreenivasulu

Assoc. Professor, CESS

Dr. Jadhav Chakradhar

Asst. Professor, CESS

Sri Vishwanadham

Finance Officer

SEND YOUR FULL PAPER TO
coopconf@cess.ac.in

Queries: sureshreddy@cess.ac.in www.cess.ac.in

